In this easy read document, difficult words are in bold. We explain what these words mean in the sentence after they have been used.

Some words are blue and underlined. These are links which will go to another website which has more information.

Introduction

The Government wants to ban conversion therapy.

Conversion therapy is an attempt to change your sexual orientation or the gender you want to be.

Sexual orientation means what gender you are attracted to. For example male, female or both.

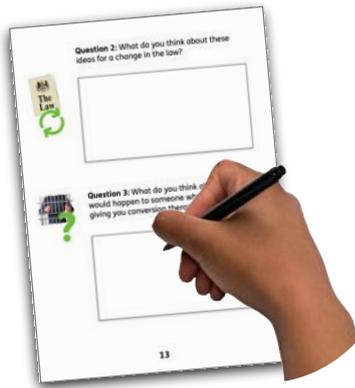

We believe that conversion therapy is wrong, as everyone should be free to be themselves.

This information explains some of the different ways we want to stop conversion therapy from happening.

What do you think?

Please tell us what you think by answering the questions in this document.

You can choose whether or not to answer some of the other questions.

But the questions we do need you to answer are marked with the word 'required'.

We need your answers by Friday, 10 December 2021.

Question 1: Do you agree or disagree that the Government should ban conversion therapy?
Required

Strongly agree

Agree

Neither agree nor disagree

Disagree

Strongly disagree

Prefer not to say

Please tell us why you think this:

Banning physical conversion therapy

Physical conversion therapy is where something physical is done to you to try and change your sexual orientation or what gender you want to be. Sometimes this may be violent.

There are already laws which stop people being violent against you.

We want the law to say that people will get an extra punishment if they have been violent while taking part in conversion therapy.

The law is already clear that physical conversion therapy is banned.

We expect the Police and other services to train their staff so they know how to support people who have been a victim of physical conversion therapy.

Question 2: Do you support, or not support, our plans to ban physical conversion therapy?
Please tick one box. Required

Please tell us why you think this:

Banning talking conversion therapy

Talking therapy is used a lot by:

- counsellors
- mental health professionals
- religious leaders
- teachers.

It is a good way to help people with problems with feelings and their mental health.

But talking conversion therapy is different because it tries to change your sexual orientation or the gender you want to be.

We want to make talking conversion therapy against the law if:

- you are under 18, or

- it is done without your permission.

Giving permission

We want the law to say that:

- you have to be over 18 to give permission to have talking conversion therapy.

- you have to have all the right information about the harm that conversion therapy can do, before you give permission.

- no one should pressure you to give your permission.

Pressure means they are making it difficult for you to say 'no'.

- it is a serious crime if anyone gives you talking conversion therapy without your permission, or forces you to have it.

Question 3: Do you agree or disagree with our ideas for a change in the law? Required

Question 5: Do you think our ideas are missing anything? Required

Yes

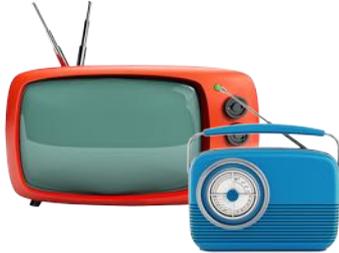

No

I don't know

If you said 'yes' to Question 5, please tell us what you think our ideas are missing:

Other things we are doing

TV and radio

Many people start to get involved with conversion therapy through TV and radio.

TV and radio have strict rules that should cover programmes that mention conversion therapy. These rules are made by a Government organisation called Ofcom.

We think that these rules are strong enough. If you are not happy with the way TV and radio are talking about conversion therapy, you should report it to Ofcom at:

www.ofcom.org.uk/complaints

Adverts

We have been thinking about what to do about adverts for conversion therapy.

Adverts must follow rules set out by the Advertising Standards Authority (ASA).

We think that these rules are strong enough. If you are not happy with an advert about conversion therapy you should report it to ASA:

www.asa.org.uk/make-a-complaint

Online

We are looking at making a new law that keeps people safe online.

We are also looking at new laws about online advertising.

We plan to make it against the law to advertise conversion therapy online.

Question 6: Do you agree or disagree that Ofcom's rules do enough to control the mention of conversion therapy on TV or radio?
Required

Strongly agree

Agree

Neither agree nor disagree

Disagree

Strongly disagree

Prefer not to say

Please tell us why you think this:

Question 7: Do you know of any TV or radio that is encouraging conversion therapy?

Required

Yes

No

I don't know

If yes, please tell us what these examples are:

Question 8: Do you agree or disagree that the ASA rules already stops adverts for conversion therapy? Required

Strongly agree

Question 9: Do you know of any adverts that are encouraging conversion therapy? Required

Yes

No

I don't know

If you said 'yes' to Question 9, please tell us what the adverts are:

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the user to write their answer.

Protecting you from conversion therapy abroad

We do not want people to be taken abroad for conversion therapy.

We are looking at setting up Conversion Therapy Protection Orders.

A Conversion Therapy Protection Order is an order given by a court that says you cannot be taken abroad to have conversion therapy.

You could ask a court to give you a Conversion Therapy Protection Order.

Anyone can ask the court to give you a Conversion Therapy Protection Order, including:

- the local council.

- the police.

- a teacher.

- a community organisation.

- a friend of yours.

- a member of your family.

If someone breaks the Conversion Therapy Protection Order they could get a fine or go to prison.

Question 10: Do you agree or disagree that there isn't enough protection for victims of conversion therapy? Required

Strongly agree

Agree

Neither agree nor disagree

Disagree

Strongly disagree

Prefer not to say

Question 11: Do you agree or disagree that there is a need for Conversion Therapy Protection Orders? Required

Strongly agree

Agree

Neither agree nor disagree

Disagree

Strongly disagree

Prefer not to say

If you said 'yes' to Question 11, please tell us why you think this:

Charities that support conversion therapy

There may be people from charities who encourage conversion therapy.

Charities have to follow the rules of the Charity Commission.

The Charity Commission is a government organisation that makes sure charities are run properly.

The Charity Commission can stop someone from being in charge of a charity if they do something wrong.

We want the law to help the Charity Commission to stop someone from being in charge of a charity if they have been encouraging conversion therapy.

Question 12: Do you agree or disagree with our ideas for working with the Charity Commission to stop someone from being in charge of a charity if they have been encouraging conversion therapy? Required

Strongly agree

Agree

Neither agree nor disagree

Disagree

Strongly disagree

Prefer not to say

Please tell us why you think this:

Making money from conversion therapy

We think that people who make money from conversion therapy should be treated more seriously by the courts.

They should get larger fines, or go to prison for longer.

They should also have any money they have made taken off them.

Making sure services do something

With this ban we expect the Police and other services to:

- write down what their staff should do if conversion therapy has been taking place.

- train their staff so they know how to support people who have been a victim of physical conversion therapy.

Question 13: Do you agree or disagree that the following services are doing enough against people who might already be carrying out conversion therapy? Required

Please explain your answer to Question 14:

Question 15: Do you think the Police, Crown Prosecution Service and other public services could be doing more to support people who have been forced to take part in conversion therapy? Required

Yes

No

I don't know

If you said 'yes', please tell us what more you think they could do:

Supporting people

We want to do more to help people who have been forced to go through conversion therapy.

We are making plans to set up new services to help victims report conversion therapy, get support and understand their rights.

Helpline and messaging service

The helpline and messaging service will have staff trained to help victims:

- report their situation

- get support like:
 - advice about services that can help
 - emergency housing
 - help if you are abroad.

It will help people to get counselling if they need it.

Online education

We will provide online information to help victims understand:

- their rights
- how to get support.

We will also give information online for teachers and professionals who should be keeping people safe about:

- the law

- how to recognise when someone is being made to have conversion therapy.

- how to report it

- how to help someone to get the services and counselling they may need

- how to help to keep someone safe from conversion therapy.

Costs and benefits of our ideas to ban conversion therapy

Question 16: Do you have any proof of the cost or benefits of any of our ideas to ban conversion therapy? Required

Yes

No

If you said 'yes', please tell us what proof you have and details of where we can see information about it:

How are ideas might affect people

It is important that we make sure we are being fair to everyone when we suggest making changes.

Question 17: Do you have any proof that our ideas to ban conversion therapy are unfair to any groups of people? Required

Yes

No

If you said 'yes', please tell us what proof you have and details of where we can see information about it:

About you

Please give us a little information about yourself.

Question 18: Are you answering these questions for an organisation or for yourself?

Required

- An organisation
- Myself

If you are answering for an organisation:
